Hello.
I'm Max Taylor.

A recent graduate of The Coding Bootcamp at UNC-Chapel Hill, fully comfortable using the MERN stack to create intuitive and exciting web applications. The most rewarding aspect of coding is using logic and creative thinking together to solve complex problems. The only better feeling than when your code works the first time is when it works the 100th time. Ideally looking for a position that utilizes a full stack, but any aspect of web development is exciting.
